So far there is no clue to the thief. Mrs. Sheville thinks that the servant left the front door open one morning, and some sneak thief, seeing his opportunity, entered. Yesterday noon, through her attorneys, Keogh, Sims & Murphy, Mrs. Sheville

There are several windows visible on the front facade. To the right of the building, there are stylized trees with dense foliage. The sketch is done in a simple, expressive line-art style.

WAREHOUSES TO BE SOLD.

THE ROBINSON STORES THROWN ON THE MARKET THROUGH A PARTITION SUIT

The property known as the Robinson Stores, on the east river, will be sold on July 19. The sale is the result of a suit for partition brought by Jeremiah P. Robinson against Isaac Robinson. A. C. Brown has been appointed referee by the Supreme Court. The sale will be conducted by Richard V. Harnett & Co., auctioneers.

The Robinson Stores are in the centre of the storage district of the river-front, and have been owned by the Robinsons for more than a century. They are the pioneers of the storage business in Brooklyn. They are twelve brick warehouses, with a capacity of about half a million square feet, on Battle site, covering about five acres, with a frontage of 22 feet on Buttermilk Channel, between South and Hamilton ferries.

It is owned by the same property the Brooklyn Wharf and Warehouse Company was unable to buy and a half mile away from the water-front. Those interested bought all the other properties of the kind north and south of it for a distance of four and a half miles along the water-front. The Robinsons had been the most formidable competitors of that company.

The community here is much larger than the communities around the stores.

THE REV. A. B. SEARS CALLED.

HE WILL BE PASTOR OF THE CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH AFTER SEPTEMBER 15.

have, after September 15, the Rev. Albert Bacon Sears as its pastor. The clergyman is now pastor of the First Baptist Church in Oneida. He received a call to the Brooklyn church a short time ago, and his letter of acceptance was read Sunday morning. It was as follows:

Oneida, N. Y., June 23, 1896.

To the Central Baptist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dear Brethren: After much deliberation, I accept the call of your church to become its pastor, praying that the union thus formed may result in the blessing and edification of the church, and the glory of our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ. Yours in Christian love, ALBERT BACON SEARS.

lar with his Onedia congregation. He resigned from that church two weeks ago, but his resignation has not yet been acted upon.

FLOWER STANDS MUST BE REMOVED.

Justice Smith, of the Supreme Court, yesterday granted a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling the City Works Commissioner, T. B. Willis, to remove two flower-stands in front of Nos. 14 and 20 Broadway. The petitioner was George Comatus, who is also a florist, and whose place is at No. 20 Broadway. He said that the stands were used for the display of flowers, and that it was impossible for people to see his own display. They were directly on the line, and declared that they were nuisances and demanded their removal on that ground. Commissioner Wilson, who had received no special permits granted by Alderman Learycraft, who was authorized by the charter of the city to issue such permits, said that he was not authorized to issue any. He does not authorize the Aldermen to grant permits to private individuals to maintain nuisances and that the stands must be removed.

BEAUTY AT THE BEACH.

There is a beauty contest on at Manhattan Beach this week, which, it is expected, will equal the whitest tournament in interest and surpass it in sentiment. It was started by Bandmaster Souza, who set out last year to eclipse the fame of Glimore. Souza, since the success of his first come opera, is no longer to be looked at except in connection with the Grand National Beauty Contest. He is now the belle of the beach. Not only has he won the contest, but he has been given undisturbed orders to talk and address on purpose of proving that a black-bearded composer is not to be compared with a blond man. Songwriters will be written by the rival musicians for this occasion, and Mr. Sousa will display his merits in a march, while Mr. Rice means to carry his claims by a gavotte.

Should there be any sign of hesitation on the part of either of these rivals, Rice will bring his "Evangeline" claims as circumstantial evidence. This, it is believed, will settle the verdict. For Sousa has no approval of good looks in others, and selects his musicians for their talent rather than their appearance. Rice, on the contrary, is governed by such a series of the charms of art and nature that he will not employ any young woman in his company who cannot claim to be a beauty. He needs the Medici Venus and rival that celebrated person in countenance. Therefore, if he cannot discredit Sousa in

The time is ripe for these things, and the beauty contest began yesterday. The curve of Sissal's back is a beautiful sight to behold, the jewelry of Sissal's eyes and the fit of Sissal's uniform are matters that were never so unparalleled as now. Similarly Rice is fully equipped with good looks, for his chorister soloists, prima donna soloists, and prima donna soloists present every phase of feminine fascination. Rice is no interested in the different types of comeliness possessed by "Evangeline" that he has had a complete course of study in the philosophy of beauty. The beauty of the "beering of beauty" has been printed in colors on his programme under the name of the "Manhattan Beach Girl." She is an entertaining young person, and when it is considered that she
